

Trannymals Go To Court

Using Humor to Make the Word Safer and Happier for Transgender People

Sequel To: “Trannymal,” winner of Best Transgender Short Film Award at the Hamburg Lesbian and Gay Film Festival, and Best of Fest at Reel Affirmations, Washington D.C. International Gay and Lesbian Film Festival

Directors: Dylan Vade, Esq. and Abe Bernard

Starring: Dr. Ando, Abe Bernard, Ace Esquire, Heather Fell, Keith Hennessy, Lucy Hosking, Joseph Kramer Ph.D., Robert Lawrence Ph.D., Hung Lo, Renata J. Razza, Johnny Seven, and Dylan Vade

Soundtrack By: Don Seaver

Length: 12 min., 18 sec.

Language: English

Date of Completion: May 2007

Exhibition Formats: Beta NTSC, Beta Pal, DVD, miniDV

Short Synopsis:

“Trannymals Go To Court” is a fairy tale with a cast of eight fierce and fiery talking genitals who expose harmful legal practices, speak up for gender self-identification, and spread unapologetic tranny pride.

Longer Synopsis:

Since most court cases involving transgender people discuss genitals at great length, we thought it appropriate that the genitals get to say their piece! “Trannymals Go To Court” is a fairy tale with a cast of eight fierce and fiery talking genitals who expose harmful legal practices, speak up for gender self-identification, and spread unapologetic tranny pride. Trannymals are friendly googly-eyed creatures who set out to make the invisible visible and turn shame into celebration, with reverence and irreverence – until we respect and cherish every single body.

Director Bios:

Dylan Vade is a transgender attorney, educator, and artist who co-founded the Transgender Law Center in San Francisco. Abe Bernard is a transgender activist, filmmaker, and photographer.

Website: www.trannymals.com

Contact: trannymals@trannymals.com

Trannymals is a not-for-profit project of the Trans Body Law and Education Project.
Funded in part by two grants from the Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence.